

A Single Root

Posted on September 27, 2012

Last week I got to work with Indiana boy turned L.A. man Steve Zukerman. His new project is called "A Single Root". It's a documentary about Barack Obama's ancestral home right in here in Indiana.

During the shoot I met a very capable cameraman named Larry Marshall. I was very impressed with all of his film making technical know how. Plus he's part of a group who just got their movie funded via Kickstarter. Check out their AWESOME trailer